

FIRE COMPANY PROPOSITION

WHETHER AN AUTO FIRE ENGINE SHOULD BE PURCHASED.

The Age of General Meade and Other Considerations Make the Movement Most Timely.

The Gettysburg Steam Fire Company No. 1 at a meeting at the Engine House on last Wednesday evening took action of great importance to this town and its more thorough protection from fire. A committee of five were named composed of Geo. A. McClellan, Chas. H. Wilson, Dr. Henry Stewart, William B. Flemming and F. B. Slonaker, to arrange a public meeting at which the present equipment of the Fire Company would be considered and the needs of the town discussed and if approved, plans formulated for a better equipment.

"General Meade" the Silsby engine has been service covering more than a quarter of a century. At times a fear has been entertained of a break that might put the engine out of commission and this when it might be needed worse than any other time. The fact that it is over 25 years old admonishes that something better if possible be obtained. The burden-someness of our engine that must be pulled by men in all kinds of weather and with streets at times heavy with mud, slush or snow and so delay the fire fighting for minutes is sufficient in itself to make it most desirable for the town to get an apparatus that would be ready to go to work much quicker. There are many reasons and some of them unanswerable why this town should have an auto fire engine.

An auto fire engine is always ready to go to a fire and get to work to pump the water without any delay whatever. At the last fire it was over fifteen minutes from the time of the alarm until the engine had steam to do the excellent work that was done. An auto engine would have been ready for work within two or three minutes. Auto engines are run with gasoline and not steam. A turn of the crank starts the engine and when it has reached the point where it is needed a lever turns the horse power from the running gear to the pumping apparatus and as soon as the hose has been adjusted the engine can begin work.

The town needs an auto fire engine. It needs it on account of the age of "General Meade" and the danger of a break down. It needs it because the town has grown a great many squares since the Silsby engine was bought. It covers more territory and more ground must be covered to reach any portion that may be threatened by fire, and an auto engine would give a quick response. It needs it so to be up-to-date and avoid all loss of time when time is more precious to a town than at any other emergency.

It should not be such a great task to the town to secure an auto engine. It is said that the cost of such an engine is about $4,000. It would be best to trade "General Meade" in on the price of an auto engine. If any kind of a reasonable price could be obtained for it and a greater price ought to be obtained in a trade and when it is in good working order than at any time later on.

The cost of an auto engine could be most appropriately contributed to by many town interests so as to make its purchase possible in the present condition of the town's finances. The country with its valuable property in and near the town, all under the protection of the Fire Company of this place could well afford to make a generous donation to the purchase. So also the School authorities, so as to increase the protection of the three valuable school buildings. There are many public interests that would respond to such an appeal and the balance of what is needed could be taken care of by the citizens and the borough treasurer.

This movement deserves the earnest support and co-operation of every citizen. The fire laddies nobly do their work whenever called upon. The present undertaking of theirs is most laudable and should receive a helping hand all along the line.

It would be well however before final action is taken in the matter that both the committee of the Fire Company and the Borough authorities should confer with the Water Company management and seek to obtain some help from them in the matter of pressure. While the COMPILE is ready to encourage this movement of the firemen in every way in our power, it will not be done in any way to relieve the Water Company from their public duty in the present emergency. To get an auto engine and then have that engine made the excuse why the Company should not give pressure would not be the right way out of the difficulty. Pressure and an auto engine should go hand in hand as the tools needed by the fire laddies to make the gallant fight against the fire fiend.

A water tower or stand pipe on East Cemetery hill at the reservoir of the company would give all the pressure needed. We are informed by one well posted that a standpipe is not a costly proposition and that for every forty-seven inches of height a pound of pressure is obtained, so that a standpipe 100 feet high would give allowing for certain friction about 50 lbs. pressure, ample in every way. Such a pressure would make nozzle streams most effective in fire fighting.

Let the Fire Company and the Town meeting to be held recommend both pressure and an auto engine.

At the same meeting of Fire Com pany a rising vote of thanks was given to James Caldwell for his contribution of $15 and to Mrs. Isaac Johns for her contribution of $5.00.

Chas. H. Wilson was elected the delegate of the Gettysburg Company to the State Convention at Lebanon next September.

Oran Riggs and Edward Pfaff were elected members of the Company.

The Fire Company turned out in parade on Friday evening with the Citizens Band, stirring up the old town for the benefit of the annual Food Sale held at the engine house. The citizens had generously contributed supplies and the net proceeds of the sale amounted to about $250.00 which will be apportioned in some way between the Relief Fund and general fund of the Fire Company.

Cement Pavements.
A number of cement pavements have been put down recently but there remain far too many that are stumbling blocks. Within past few weeks Chas. S. Duncan, Esq. and Dr. H. M. Hartman have put down cement pavements on Baltimore street and the former has also put down similar pavement at his residence corner of Lincoln Ave. and Washington St. Frank A. Althoff and Wm. Menchey have built them in front of their properties on High street and Lloyd Watts on Washington street.

Right here in passing the observation is worth while that those living on streets other than the four main streets seem to be possessed of more public spiritedness in this direction than is apparent in those on the leading streets. The south side of West Middle street can boast of a few feet less cement pavement than on the north side of Chambersburg street and to win out the latter must count away to the top of Seminary Hill. Washington street has a display of cement pavement that deserves to be patterned after by other sections of the town.

It is curious how the individual can lose sight of the general public on this proposition by an attitude that means I'll make my pavement when I get good and ready. Too many individuals seem to look upon the public like the late Wm. H. Vanderbilt did, yet these very same individuals are living on what the same public brings to their doors, and this can be true of business man, professional man or those who have their labor for sale. A reciprocal obligation is upon the individual all the time, whether he appreciates it or not, to give to that public a good pavement. Certainly the individual must want the pathway to his door to be a smooth one and not a stumbling block. No one lives unto himself. Each one is dependent unto his neighbors for much that he has and this obligation of a good pavement rests upon many of our people. Why not wake up and meet the obligation.

Gettysburg could make a hit next year, advertise itself, if the host of visitors would find cement pavements for their weary feet. The remembrance of cement pavements completely covering our town would have a tendency to bring them back. It will be too late to do this work next year. It must be done this year.

The Town Council are slow in getting at the other half of the Diamond. Get busy gentlemen. Make your portions of these pavements and ask the citizens whose necessary to go along with you when you are putting them down.

The Evergreen Cemetery Association at a recent meeting passed a resolution to put down cement pavement in front of their property and it is to be hoped that the Federal authorities will listen to urgings for a pavement in front of the National Cemetery. The St. James Lutheran church will soon put down a cement pavement at their church on York and Stratton streets.

Keep 1913 in mind and put down cement pavements for your sake and the obligation you owe to the town and for the sake of the town.

Ninth Penn'a. Cavalry.

The Veterans of the Ninth Pennsylvania Cavalry held their annual reunion in Gettysburg last week. About sixty-five veterans were present. Headquarters were at Hotel Gettysburg and reunion meetings were held in the Pest Room.

Thursday morning was spent on the battlefield. At the afternoon session, Prof. J. Louis Sowers welcomed the veterans to Gettysburg. Several short addresses were made and the following officers were elected for the coming year. President, J. T. English, Louisville; Secretary, A. F. Shenk, Lancaster; Treasurer, Henry Heffner, York.

Vice presidents, Alexander Keithline, Ashtam; Benjamin H. Payan, Millersburg; George W. Thomas, Hanover; Chaplain, J. D. Landis, Coatesville; Surgeon, Dr. William Rice, Rome, Pa.

Some of the veterans left on Thursday evening train, a number remaining until Friday. Millersburg was selected as place of meeting of the 9th Pa. Cavalry next year.

The Ninth Pennsylvania Cavalry was a part of Sherman's Army and consequently did not take part in the battle of Gettysburg. Shortly before July, 1863, the regiment was ordered north and was on its way to join General Meade when the battle was fought here.

Five French Mousellus and Radishes for the Summer bride and attendants, 48 inches wide, 50, 60 and 70 cts per yard, worth fully 20 per cent. more as compared with city store prices.

On last Thursday evening the closing exercises of St. Francis Xavier School took place in Xavier Hall. There were two graduates, Helen Margaret Stock and Helen Virginia Myers. The full program of excellently rendered exercises was as follows:

Selection by Citizens Band, followed by a song of welcome by the school.

A juvenile chorus by eight little boys composed of Joseph and Francis Hemler, John Codori, James Falkner, Arthur Cunningham, Riley Dillman, Charles Myrlich and Leo Culp. The youngsters were dressed as letter blocks, only head and feet showing and after a drill in spelling, they sang and spelled "The Flag We Love."

A chorus "Greeting to Spring" completed first part of program.

Operetta "Little Red Riding Hood" was then presented. Margaret Beck taking the part of "Red Riding Hood," Marie Codori as Queen of the Fairies and as her fairies 16 or more of the little ones of the school. Onetta Snyder took part of the mother and Edwin Codori of the Wolf and the old story was very prettily presented in song.

The closing part of the program was made up of one of the hits of the evening "Topsy Turvy" by the eight boys mentioned in first part.

"Memories of Galilee" was recited by Gertrude Slonaker and between the verses a chorus of girls sang "Oh Galilee."

The valedictory was delivered by Helen Stock and exercises concluded with grand chorus "Gaudemus."

GEO. W. HOOVER RECOVERING

From Serious Injury of a Blow on Head by a Stone.

George L. Hoover proprietor of the Elk Horn Hotel of Bendersville is recovering from the serious illness following a wound on the head received on May 20. He is considered to be out of danger and on the way to complete recovery. For some days his condition was very serious.

The attack made upon him in which he received the wound took place on the Cumberland side and county detective Bently of Carlisle arrested four boys: Oliver Cline, Blaine Mundorff, Edward Hewitt and Ira Rinehart and they are out on bail for a hearing to be held June 25. The story of the injury from which he has been suffering is as follows:

With two traveling salesmen Mr. Hoover left Bendersville on the evening of May 30 to take them to Mount Holly in order that they could go on to Carlisle. The night was dark and as they went on their way were uncertain whether they were on the right road. They passed a house and called to some young men who were there about the road and an uncivil reply followed. Hoover made some comment about this which evidently aroused the anger of the men and four of them jumped into a team and followed the Bendersville man and his two companions.

As they drove past Hoover, he struck at their horse and a stinging blow from the whip was returned on his face from one of the occupants of the team, said to have been Blaine Mundorff. The quartet went on and stopped at the top of a hill where they awaited Hoover's coming. Two grasped his horses when he came up while one threw a stone which struck Hoover and rendered him unconscious. A boy by the name of Hewitt admits having thrown the stone, according to the news from the vicinity of the affair.

After Mr. Hoover regained consciousness he went on to Holly but there began to feel sick and one of the traveling men accompanied him home, where he has since become much worse and his recovery was very doubtful.

It is thought the young men bore a grudge against the hotel man because he had refused to sell them liquor. All are said to be minors.

Forger Arrested.

County Detective Charles H. Wilson picked up a forger in this place last week nearly and most unexpectedly to the man. Mr. Wilson had been notified about a week before to be on the lookout for Harry R. Myers, of Codorus township, York county, wanted for the forgery of a promissory note for $170. The man had gone west and it was thought he had turned eastward. On Wednesday, Mr. Wilson noticed a well dressed stranger in town, corresponding to the description of the man sent him. He kept him in sight and he did not appear to have any special business on hand, coming up to him at the Wabash Hotel. Mr. Wilson addressed him as Mr. Myers, and the latter wanted to know how he knew his name as he did not know Mr. Wilson. Mr. Wilson asked him to walk along with him and they were on their way to the jail before the man knew what had happened and for that matter no one on the street realized what had taken place. Myers admitted his identity and also the forgery. He is wanted for the forgery of name of Adam Hamme and has been a fugitive since Dec. 2, 1911. At the jail Mr. Wilson discovered in the breast pocket of the coat of the man an ugly looking revolver, which he did not want to give up and in answer to the inquiry what he was doing with such a gun, answered that he didn't know but what he would have to use it.

Detective Wilson notified the York authorities of his capture and prisoner was taken to York.

Cut Over Abdomen With Knife.

John Rupp, of North Washington street, was cut over the abdomen with a knife in the hands of Huber Penn, colored bellboy at the Eagle Hotel, Tuesday evening of last week. Rupp's wound is trivial. Penn denies using a knife, but the condition of Rupp's clothing is proof to the contrary. Penn was captured an hour and a half after the fight near his home on West High street, and Wednesday morning gave bail for hearing.

Brief Visit of War College Men.

The Army War College contingent made a brief visit to this place last week. There were forty officers in the party. They arrived on Tuesday over the W. M. R. R. They had been traveling on horseback but at Keedysville took to the train while privates took their horses back to Washington. The entire time here was devoted to the battlefield. They stopped at the Eagle Hotel and left on Wednesday afternoon for Washington.

M. the members of the class, in cap and gown, marched in a long procession from Brua Chapel to the platform, to music played by the College Orchestra. Mr. H. B. Hafford acted as master of ceremonies. After a few words of greeting, he introduced Mr. S. I. Bloomhart, who read the history of the class. The prophets, Messrs. Beidelman, C. W. Heller and Peck, revealed in an interesting manner the future of the class. Mr. E. S. Rudisill read the class poem. In his mantle oration, Mr. Berlin Empfield pointed out the responsibilities of the Senior class and emphasized the importance of activity in movements which are for the best interests of the institution. This was very ably responded to by Mr. John Dulebohn, president of the Junior class.

An interesting feature of the exercises was the dedication of the class memorial consisting of a lamp post and the cement walk. Mr. E. R. Hauser, chairman of the memorial committee, in behalf of the class, presented this memorial, largely a work of their own hands, to the faculty and board of trustees. Dr. Granville accepted it in behalf of the faculty and board of trustees. In his speech he commended the class very highly for the excellent spirit they have shown and for the good motives that prompted their action. The program was made especially entertaining by frequent selections rendered by the College Orchestra.

PRESIDENT'S RECEPTION.

On Tuesday evening the doors of the "White House" were thrown open, while Dr. and Mrs. Granville entertained at the Annual President's Reception to the commencement guests and friends of the institution.

The function was the most largely attended of any of its kind ever held at Gettysburg. For over an hour and a half Mrs. Granville, Dr. Granville, The Misses Granville and Mr. Weidensall '61, were busily engaged receiving the guests. Messrs. Dulebohn, Hepler, Kramer, McNair and Pannell acted as ushers.

The entire College Orchestra stationed on the veranda, furnished an excellent musical program for the occasion.

The event was singularly successful and can well be added to the many excellent receptions which have recently been given by our President and his family.

GRADUATING EXERCISES.

The eightieth commencement of Pennsylvania College took place in Brua Chapel, Wednesday, June 12, at 10 A. M. The graduating class of 1912 was one of the largest in the history of the institution, sixty-five receiving diplomas. After the opening prayer by Rev. Frederick H. Knobel '93, the Salutatory address was given by John G. Fleck, in which in behalf of the faculty and class he expressed their heartfelt appreciation for the presence of the many friends and extended to them a most cordial welcome. The address to the graduating class was then made by Hon. M. Calanough, 77 Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of District of Columbia. In brief he said the Constitution of the United States is the preserver of liberty, justice and government by the majority, but a respecter of the rights of the minority. The Constitution has endured for over a hundred years. It was the fruit of men of intellect, character, experience and a deep sense of independence and is the greatest political document ever produced. Unfriendly influences have neither crushed it, dimmed its brightness, nor destroyed it as the center of the patriot's hope. He regrets the attacks which have been made against the present departments of the government, especially those against the constitution itself. In the latter lies the greatest danger. The country has grown and developed marvelously under the present system, and no change should be allowed unless a better and more satisfactory one is offered. The Initiative, Referendum, and Recall are to be deplored. A government by the people according to the greater numbers is an evil parallel to an absolute monarchy. The Recall of Judges, he classified as another one of the old time heresies. This discontent is due to those who demand decisions to be in accord with the ideas of a comparatively few men. The courts must be unimpaired of the sway of the mob. He then directed his attention of the graduates and impressed upon them as the highest conception of duty—to be seekers of the truth; in other words to solve the problem of civic righteousness. The stability of the government rests with the intelligent citizen and he controls the great destinies. He closed by a stirring appeal for loftiness of character, for them to be helpful and true to their fellow-men and heedful of God's command—"Quit Ye Like Men." The Valedictory address was delivered by Carl C. Rasmussen. He said in the past the great demand has been for educated men and women. Pennsylvania College has always responded and to-day she presents her offering. Time will tell whether the graduates have made use of their opportunities. As they are now about to pass out into a broader reserved and unrelenting world. He expressed the deep and heartfelt appreciation of the class to the faculty for their influence and help. The class he exhorted to remember the high ideals which they had received and claimed that a noble life is the greatest memorial and a fitting end to what was here begun. The presentation of degrees both to the graduating class and to a few of the alumni then followed.

GLATFELTER MEMORIAL EXERCISES.

Immediately after the Commencement Exercises in Brua Chapel, the procession was again formed and proceeded to the old "Recitation Hall" where dedicatory services were held—dedicating Recitation Hall to the memory of P. H. Glatfelter, and naming it "Glatfelter Hall." The exercises were conducted by Dr. Granville.

Prayer was offered by the Rev. M. L. Clare, of Spring Grove, pastor of the "home church" of the sainted Mr. Glatfelter. Ex-President H. W. McKnight then made the address, calling attention to the fact, that owing to the extreme liberality of Mr. Glatfelter, the building of Recitation Hall was made possible; and that the Glatfelter family has given more than sixty-thousand dollars for the benefit of Pennsylvania College. It was in appreciation of such interest in this college that the Trustees changed the name of Recitation Hall to Glatfelter Hall, as a memorial to P. H. Glatfelter. Dr. McKnight also called attention to the character of Mr. Glatfelter, they being warm friends. He paid a glowing tribute to a careful, concerned father; a christian, a churchman of deeds; an unselfish business man; and a friend of Gettysburg. At a signal from Dr. McKnight, Pres. Granville pulled the cord tying two American flags together, which were draped across the front of the entrance to the Hall. As they dropped aside they revealed the inscription, "Glatfelter Hall," carved in block letters on the arch of the entrance. At the close of the address of Dr. McKnight, the orchestra played a selection after which Dr. Milton Valentine pronounced the benediction. Thus has Gettysburg honored one of her most devoted benefactors.

ALUMNI COLLATION.

The Ladies' Auxiliary entertained the alumni in royal fashion at the collation at noon on Commencement Day. Examination Hall was converted into a huge dining room, filled with large tables, on which a sumptuous repast was spread. They were tastefully decorated with daisies and other flowers of the field. Mrs. J. D. Stahley was mistress of ceremonies and the 1913 co-eds had the decorations in charge. The College Orchestra furnished an excellent musical program for the occasion.

After all had partaken of the good things set before them Chas. S. Duncan, Esq., '82, Master of ceremonies introduced in his characteristic and jolly manner the following speakers, who responded to toasts: Rev. Dr. Knobel; Rev. Dr. P. A. Heilman; Rev. Dr. Trump; Rev. Dr. Blint; Rev. Dr. Diffenderfer; Dr. Downing; Dr. Weidensall and Dr. Satter. These gentlemen spoke on various phases of the welfare and progress of the college and extended their encouragement, compliments, and counsel to the class of 1912. All heartily commended the work of the administration in the highest terms.

Then a business session was held in which the alumni re-elected M. K. Eckert their representative to the Athletic Council. They heard Dr. Granville explain the plan and system which the Board of Trustees have adopted for the campaign to raise the endowment fund. They passed resolutions commending this plan to the alumni and calling upon them to lend their hearty assistance and co-operation in its execution.

SHAKESPEAREAN PLAYS.

The Commencement season was happily brought to a close by the rendition of "A- You Like It" and "A Mid-summer Night's Dream" by the Frank McEntee and Millicent Evison Company, on the campus in the afternoon and evening of last Wednesday. These two delightful comedies were acted in masterly fashion and reflect much credit on the actors. The outdoor scenes added incalculably to the effect produced, over having them acted inside. The scenes in the evening were especially fine. The weather was ideal and this added much to the enjoyment of the occasion.

"RICHMOND" Suction Cleaner

It pays for itself, second, because it doubles and triples the life of floorcoverings, hangings, furniture, wall paper, decorations, etc.

The "RICHMOND" Suction Cleaner weighs but 10 pounds. It can easily be carried upstairs, downstairs, anywhere without the least fatigue. It is a truly portable cleaner.

A "RICHMOND" is built with a view to long durability and we cover it with the broadest possible guarantee. It is simple in construction. There is nothing to wear out. There are no gears, no diaphragms, no valves. Nothing to jiggle loose. To operate, simply attach to any electric lamp socket.

Costs about one cent per hour to operate.

Surely you must see that the "RICHMOND" Suction Cleaner must give perfect service, perfect satisfaction, day after day, month after month, else we could not afford this offer.

But don't take our word for it. Find out for yourself. Try a machine at our risk. It doesn't make good—if it doesn't more than come up to your expectations, simply tell us to take it away. Could anything be more fair?

Remember it costs you nothing if you decide to keep the machine. All we ask is that $1.00 be deposited with us as evidence of good faith and to keep away triflers. The $1.00 will be refunded in case the machine is returned.

DANIEL MARCH IS STRICKEN WHILE DRIVING TO HIS HOME

Henry Osborne Well Known Veteran and Citizen of Straban Township Passes Away.

DANIEL MARCH, of Midway, died suddenly on Tuesday of last week, from neuralgia of the heart, aged 64 years, 1 month and 27 days. Mr. March had gone in the morning to the home of his son, Linus, near Bart's church, where he assisted in picking cherries. After dinner he remarked that he did not feel good and thought he had better go home. Mrs. March asked him to wait a short while and she would accompany him. He said he would drive on slowly and she could catch up. When about two miles from the house, he was seized with neuralgia of the heart, and was found lying unconscious in the buggy. Mrs. March, who was breathing slightly when she reached his side, but he died soon after without regaining consciousness. He was brought to his home by John Brown, a neighbor. Drs. Geo. L. Rice and A. C. Rice, of McSherrystown, pronounced death due to neuralgia of the heart, he having suffered from heart trouble for several years.

The deceased was born in Adams county, near East Berlin, and was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel March. His early life was spent on the farm, and later he followed the occupation of farming. Mr. March was a veteran of the Civil War, having served in Co. H, 37th Regiment Penn'a Volunteer Infantry, and was transferred on account of disability, Dec. 18, 1863, to Co. 129, Second Battalion Veteran Reserve Corps. From this he was discharged on a surgeon's certificate of disability, Dec. 16, 1864. Mr. March was a member of Major Jenkins Post No. 99, G. A. R., of Hanover. He was married to Miss Louisa Weisensale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Casper Weisensale, of Adams county, about 45 years ago. He spent the greater part of his life in Adams county, moving to Midway about seven years ago. Besides his widow he is survived by nine children, as follows: Linus C. March, near Bart's church; Mrs. Ida S. Miller, at home; Charles March, Bonneauville; Mrs. Kate E. Bender, Mt. Rock; William H. March, Wayne, Pa.; Rev. Daniel J. March, Springetts, York county; Elmer C. March, Midway; Mrs. Laura A. Brady, Irishstown; and Clarence J. March, at home. ARNOLD-BLOCHER—The new St. James chapel was the scene of a beautiful church wedding and the first to be held in the new edifice, at noon of last Thursday, when Miss S. Flo Blocher, daughter of Mrs. Ella S. Blocher, of this place and Rev. Joseph Arnold, of Brooklyn were united in marriage. The chapel was decorated in gold and white the color scheme throughout the wedding accessories. Mrs. J. E. Baker before the ceremony played "Album Leaf" and Miss Ruth Clutz sang "Shall I Wed Thee." During the ceremony Mrs. Baker played the Lohengrin Bridal Chorus.

The bridal party entered the chapel in the following order: Ushers, J. Calvin Hartman, Maurice Bender, George E. Hartman, of this place and Harry Kuhlman, of Ursina. Miss Mary Himes and Miss Belle Bream the bridesmaids were next in line, carrying white daisies tied with yellow ribbons and wore white gowns with wreaths of daisies in their hair. Justine Hartley and Lucile Bender were the flower girls carrying baskets of daisies. Miss Wanda Arnold, sister of the groom was maid of honor wearing a gown of white embroidery over yellow silk and carried yellow daisies.

The bride was next on the arm of her brother, Ralph Blocher, and wore a gown of white chiffon over satin and carried roses. They were met at the altar by the groom with his best man, Rev. Robert E. Peterman. The wedding ceremony was performed by Rev. J. B. Baker, using double ring service. At the close of the ceremony Mrs. Baker played the Mendelssohn March. Following the wedding a reception was given at the home of the bride on Seminary Ridge.

Rev. Joseph Arnold, the groom is a graduate of the College and Seminary here and Rev. and Mrs. Arnold will go half around the world on a honeymoon trip to the Lutheran Mission at Monrovia, Liberia, Africa. They left the same day for Pine Beach, New Jersey and on July 4th will sail on the "Cincinnati" for Europe and will spend several weeks in Switzerland and Germany, the home land of the groom and from there will proceed to Africa.

Among the out-of-town guests were Hans Arnold and Miss Wanda Arnold, of Brooklyn, Mrs. Wm. B. Clancy and son and Miss Lindsomeyer, of Pittsburgh and Miss Shryock, of Chambersburg.

LIVELSBERGER — SMITH — Miss Florence L. Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gregory F. Smith of Hanover and William F. Livelsberger, son of John S. Livelsberger, of Edgemoor, were united in marriage at a nuptial mass, Tuesday, June 11th by Rev. J. A. Huber, in St. Joseph's Catholic church, Hanover. Miss Elsie Smith, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid, while Elmer Lawrence, cousin of the groom, was the best man. The bride was attired in silk marquisette over messaline and carried a shower bouquet of brides roses. The bridesmaid was also attired in white and carried American Beauty roses.

After the ceremony the couple were tendered a wedding breakfast at the home of the bride's parents. The decorations were cut flowers and plants of the season, in large variety. Mr. and Mrs. Livelsberger left on a brief trip and on their return will reside at the home of the bride's parents.

MACKLEY — STALLSMITH — Miss Myrtle Stallsmith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Stallsmith, of near New Oxford, who accompanied her aunt, Mrs. J. H. Cruse, of Hanover, on the excursion to Washington, D. C., Saturday, June 8, gave her aunt the slip long enough to get married to Clarence E. Mackley, of Lancaster. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. E. Wheeler, in that city. Mr. Mackley is principal of the Lancaster High school, and is a former resident of near New Oxford. He is well known in the lower end of Adams county.

Charged with Bigamy.

D. Rolla Finkenbinder was released from jail on last Saturday, on $600 bail to answer the charge of bigamy at the August Court. He had been arrested on the previous Saturday and had been in jail a week until bail was obtained, the father of the man becoming bail for $200 and Joseph Thomas, father of Miss Jennie Thomas, whom he married here in Feb. becoming bail for $400.

Finkenbinder was arrested by chief of police Shealer on information made by Mrs. Finkenbinder No. 1 residing in Harrisburg.

On February 20, last, Rev. F. X. Dougherty married in St. Francis Xavier church D. Rolla Finkenbinder and Miss Jennie Thomas of Gettysburg route 1. The records at the Adams county courthouse show that in securing his marriage license the groom gave no indication that he had been previously married and Father Dougherty knew nothing of his former marriage which occurred, it is said on January 11, 1906, the bride being Miss Eva May Bittinger who resided at that time in Franklin county and is now a resident of Harrisburg.

Finkenbinder claims as his defense that he thought a divorce, for which he had been suing in Franklin county court, had been granted and that he was legally separated from his first wife at the time he married Miss Thomas. He brought the action on grounds of desertion and says he had been informed by his attorney that the decree would be granted on a date prior to that on which he married Miss Thomas. He took it for granted that this had been done and his second marriage followed. All the testimony had been taken in the divorce case, it is said, and it was practically concluded when Mrs. Finkenbinder, who had not appeared at any of the hearings made a request to offer testimony and this held up the granting of the decree which would have made Finkenbinder free to marry again. He claims he knew nothing of the delay until after his second marriage.

Ought to Paint.

I ought to have painted last year, but I hated to pay $2.25 a gallon. I've got to paint this year; I'll take a little more paint; I suppose 1 gallon in 10; and a little more work, I suppose 1 day in 10.

My job would have cost last year about $52.50; it is going to cost this year $57.75.

$5.25 gone, I suppose it'll be the same again, if I wait again.

What if paint goes down to $2 a gallon? $2.50 on the job!

I shan't wait; what a fool I was!

Four Acres of Thistles

By Carl Jenkins

(Copyright, 1912, by Associated Literary Press.)

"This seems to be about the record," said the man with iron-grey hair as he turned to the young man of twenty-two standing before him.

"Twenty-two years old. Just squeezed through high school. Just squeezed through preparatory. Sent down from college for falling behind. Tried it again, and now expelled for ruffianism. Never did a day's work. Don't know beans. Never'll amount to shucks. Pet of his mother. Can jump and box and row. If sent to buy five cent's worth of candy wouldn't know how to do it. What have you got to say?"

"Nothing much, father, except as to the ruffianism," was the reply. "I'm not a ruffian, though I admit to being a general failure."

"Would anybody but a ruffian help to kidnap a professor and then ride him around on a jackass?"

"That was just a college prank, father."

"Oh, it was! And greasing the stairs and sending the janitor from top to bottom and breaking his ribs was another!"

"But we made up a purse of $250 for him."

"And blowing up the professor of mathematics with a dynamite mine as he crossed the campus—that was another nice little prank for a cent, wasn't it?"

"He didn't go up over six feet."

"It wasn't your fault that he didn't go sixty. Ames, you've reached the limit."

"Yes?"

"I own a stone quarry, as you know, and I want laborers. I'll give you two dollars a day, but you'll have to work ten hours a day to earn your wages, and hustle at that."

"I think," replied the young man after a moment's silence, "I think it would do me good to travel and see the country."

"But you can't play Pullman palace car tourist at my expense."

"No, father. I shall turn tramp."

"Do you good. Here's fifty dollars to pay for bed and board when you have to. Better be a tramp than a nobody. You will at least learn the art of robbing hen-roosts and pulling turnips."

The Mad Beast Racing Up With Growls.

That was three months before a county constable riding along a highway a hundred miles from the Chester home caught sight of a tramp resting under a bush in the afternoon and called to him:

"Move on, you, or I'll have you in jail!"

"Oh, I don't know," was the indifferent reply.

"But I do. I don't take sass from your sort!"

The man with a nickle star plinned conspicuously to the lapel of his coat drew rein, pulled out a pair of handcuffs and advanced upon the tramp and reached out for him. Next moment he was standing on his head, his feet being held up in the air. He did some kicking and was turned end-for-end. He made some bluster and was tossed into his buggy and the horse urged to hurry up and get somewhere. Then the tramp wandered along. He was hungry, and he would have stopped at the big house he soon came to and had a chat with the cook, except that he saw a girl in a hammock on the veranda. He wasn't exactly afraid that she would bite, but he had on a blue woolen shirt and a rough suit and hadn't shaved for four days. Other tramps he had met on the road had dubbed him with the title of "Gentleman Jim." They hadn't charged him with carrying a toothbrush, but they had found out that he combed his hair at least once in two days, and no one had offered to "chum up" with him!

Forty rods beyond the residence of Judge Horton, for this the big house was and it was his daughter Edith, in the hammock, the tramp sat down again. There was no hurry. On his left was a four-acre lot grown up to thistles, and it was a bit of scenery for the wayfarer. His eyes had roamed over the field when they were brought back to the highway to rest on a big mastiff coming towards him on the jump.

"Mad dog!" whispered the tramp after watching for a moment.

Head held high—eyes a fiendish green—glowering at the mouth. Those were the true signs. The tramp stood up and grasped the stout stick by which he carried his old satchel over his shoulder. The dog came straight at him, but at the last moment swerved aside and passed on. He was half-blind in his agony, and he may have taken the man for a shadow.

"Gate 'open and girl in the hammock!" whispered the tramp. "Will he turn in? If he does she will scream, and what then? I musn't take chances!"

The dog had forty rods to go by the road, and the man, by leaping the fence and making a short cut had only about twenty-five. One jump and he was over the fence, and then he struck a clender-track gait.

The dog stopped for a few seconds at the gate and then turned in. Just then the girl sat up in the hammock, and seeing both tramp and dog she screamed. The tramp let out another link, and he was at the foot of the steps when the mad beast came racing up with growls of agony or anger. With a full swing of his stick the tramp bowled the dog over, and three or four more blows finished him.

"What—what is it?" demanded the girl.

"Just a mad dog, miss," was the reply as the dusty outfit came lifted. "He's dead and there's nothing to fear."

"But I want to know."

"Just a mad dog."

And the tramp had reached the gate when Judge Horton and his wife came driving up, and the judge leaped out and seized the man by the collar and exclaimed:

"Hold on, here! I want to know what's been going on!"

"Don't let him get away, father!" cried Edith as she came running.

"What's he done?"

"Why, he killed a big mad dog that was after me! I want to know his name and make him accept thanks."

"Just a mad dog," replied the tramp with a deprecating smile, but the trio insisted on making a hero of him.

The judge handed him a $20 bill, and when it was refused he cast around to give a reward in some other way.

"Look here," he said after a bit, "there's four solid acres of thistles over there belonging to me. I want 'em cut down and rooted out. I'll give you $10 an acre to do it, and you can get board with the farmer just below."

The next day the tramp went to work with scythe and spade, and it was a twenty-days' job he had. Three or four times in that stretch Judge Horton visited the field and tried to draw the worker out, but he did not succeed very well. On two occasions Miss Edith called him to the roadside fence to praise and pump, but all the information she got made a brief report to her father!

"Say, papa, you know, I studied Greek?"

"It was some folderol like that, I believe."

"And I can understand it quite well, and what do you think?"

"I think you can't."

"And yesterday when I was passing the thistle-field I heard our tramp swearing in Greek!"

"Did, eh? Then I must warn him that all swearing around here must be done in English."

It was the tramp's last day on his job when a strange auto rolled up to Judge Horton's mansion, and an hour later his honor and his visitor entered the field and walked up to the weary and sunburned toiler.

"Ames, I didn't think it was in you!" said the visitor as he held out his hand.

"Father!"

"We've kept a little track of you, you see."

And Miss Edith? Well a man has only to save a girl from a mad dog and hydrophobia, and then excite her curiosity and romance, and what's the result? Not over a year's courtship before marriage, and it is eminently proper at that.

HAVE THREE KINDS OF MONEY

Venezuelan Monetary Standards Must Be Extremely Puzzling to New-comer and Visitor.

There are at present in daily use in Venezuela three different systems of monetary standards. One is that based on the bolivar (equal to 19.3 cents) as the unit. This is in use by the government in its reports and transactions and is the official system, if it may be so called. Quotations in this system are in bolivars and centimos, a bolivar being divided into 100 centimos, although the smaller coin in this system has a value of 5 centimos.

The second system has the "peso fuerte" or "dollar" as its unit, the units being commonly referred to simply as "fuertes." This "fuerte" is taken to be equal to 5 bolivars and to be divided into 100 centavos.

The third system has the "peso macuquina," usually simply termed "pesos," as its unit. This "peso" has a value of 4 bolivars and is considered to be equal to 80 centavos, and to be divided into 8 reales, while the "fuerte" is considered to have 10 reales.

Some few of the mercantile houses keep their accounts with their customers in "fuertes," but most of the establishments render their bills in the "peso."

When accounts kept in the last two units are paid, they are transformed into bolivars by manipulating by five or four, as the case may be, payments being made by Venezuelan currency, coined gold and silver on the bolivar basis, or bank notes issued on the same system, although some foreign gold is in general acceptance at conventional rates.

Among the humbler classes making their purchases at the market, an article which would be worth 75 centimos of a bolivar, or 15 centavos of a "fuerte," will almost invariably be quoted at "a real and a half," or a purchase will be actually paid for by offering 6 bolivars, 62½ centimos in coin, while the seller has stated the value to be "13½ reales."

TO ADVERTISE CHURCH WORK

Congregational Ministers of Philadelphia Plan Extensive Use of the Newspapers.

Indorsing church advertising in the newspapers, the Philadelphia Association of Congregational Ministers, which was merged into the Association of Congregational Churches, passed resolutions appointing a committee which will advertise each individual church in the local newspapers.

The Rev. Edwin H. Romig, pastor of the First Congregational church, was appointed chairman of the publicity committee which is now a permanent institution.

In the course of his remarks, Dr. Romig pledged himself to newspaper advertising, which, he said, must be done. The lack of interest in religious affairs he attributed to the fact that the church is not enough before the public eye, and appealed to his audience to finance the campaign as a business venture.—Philadelphia Evening Times.

No Decrease in Disease.
Speaking of disease, here is another deplorable confession from no less an authority than the Medical Record. In spite of the army of physicians, their discoveries, and their hecatombs of vivisectioned guinea pigs, we may, doubt, says the Medical Record, whether the sum total of diseases is any less than it was before the medical profession reached its present high standing. Preventive medicine has made "little headway," and "in the opinion of some medical men diseases are on the increase." In the deeper recesses of our consciousness we had suspected something of the kind ourselves, but such heterodoxy on the part of a layman would have exposed him to excommunication with bell, book, and candle, or at least with bacteria, serums, and antitoxins. But with the Medical Record behind us we can afford to creep out into the open.

Successful Woman Farmer.
Miss Grace M. Putnam is said to be one of the most successful farmers in New Jersey. She was born and brought up in the city, never even visiting the country until after she was 15 years old. Her farm consists of about five acres and is planted exclusively in cantaloupes. She reports that she rented her farm for the first year. The second year she bought it, the third year she paid up every debt she owed and put $3,000 in bank. She does all the work herself after the first plowing, for which she pays a farmer $12. Her seeds cost her $1 an acre, fertilizer $10 an acre and barrels for shipping one year's crop $60. She sells her melons direct to dealers at $6 a barrel. She thinks her success as a farmer is largely due to the fact that she loves the work better than anything else in the world.

Rejoices Over Returned Speech.
After being speechless for fifteen years, the wife of a rancher of Carpentaria, Cal., has regained her speech. The woman's voice returned to her just as suddenly as it had left her. She was sitting at the dinner table when she felt a strange itching in her throat, and, surmising the truth of the situation, she rushed to the living room. Sitting at the piano, she started the members of the family by singing a melody that was her favorite song when a girl.

Improving Bonneville Road.

Edward S. Frey, of York, an assistant engineer of the State Highway Department, made a tour of inspection over the road from Hanover to Gettysburg, known familiarly as the Bonneville road last week and he has selected this road as the first one to which repairs will be made, under the Good Roads law.

The State, under the law, has taken over a number of highways for improvements, and while all will not be reconstructed, they will be placed in better condition for travel.

The Bonneville road is the shortest from this place to Hanover, and is frequently traveled. It stretches between two macadamized state roads—the one from McSherrystown through Brushtown and the other leading from Gettysburg. For these reasons Mr. Frey has selected this highway for immediate improvement.

He expects to have a force of men at work at once on the repairs. The road will be leveled and rolled, and culverts placed where necessary.

REACH HEIGHTS OF LUXURY

Good Reasons Why the Newest Ocean Liners Are Referred to as Floating Palaces.

While the first photograph of the new steamship Titanic received in New York shows a ship in most respects like the Olympic there is a pronounced difference in the deck, or what is on the Olympic the lower promenade deck. On this deck on the new ship there is no public promenade at all.

Instead the staterooms are brought out flush with the outside of the superstructure, and the rooms themselves made much larger. The sitting rooms of some of the suites on this deck are 15 by 15 feet, in fact, this deck is the most luxurious of the vessel.

The restaurant is much larger than that of the Olympic and it has a novelty in the shape of a private promenade deck on the starboard side, to be used exclusively by its patrons. Adjoining it is a reception room where hosts and hostesses may meet their guests before going into the restaurant.

The biggest novelty is two private promenades connected with the two most luxurious suites on the ship. These suites are about the most expensive ever installed on a ship so far as the passenger is concerned. It will be possible for the occupants to be just as exclusive on shipboard as in their own homes.

POINTER FOR THE BATSMAN

Right Way of Hitting a Pitched Ball Is Shown as a Matter of Some Importance.

Some of the grueling training of pennant chasers in southern training camps is indicated by Edward Lyle Fox in Outing. Here is what he says of the batting:

"A man steps to the plate. The ball comes sailing up, white and big, ridiculously easy to hit. The batter must think so, too. We see him hunch his shoulders, draw in his upper lip, act just as men do when they're going to kill it. Then he swings. The impact has the dull sound of a falling plank hitting the sidewalk on one end. High above second base the ball arches, wobbles and bolts in a shining arc. The batter looks sheepish.

"Hey!" cries the manager, and we see him rush toward the plate. "What do you mean by hitting a ball like that? Why, man, if you don't change your swing you'll be a fly-ball hitter all your life."

"What's the matter with it?" The voice betrays disappointment.

"Matter!" roars the manager. "Matter! Why, you're hitting as if you were eating soup; coming up under the ball as if it were a piece of clam floating in a bowl of chowder and your bat was a ladle! Matter! When will you ever learn to meet a ball squarely on the nose—not hitting under it? Now try again."

He does, and this time we hear a ring, see a white streak that shoots not ten feet from the ground and brings up with a crash against the outfield fence.

Mr. Galsworthy and Art.

John Galsworthy has a fine imaginative piece of writing in the February fortnightly on "Vague Thoughts on Art."

"Art," he says, "is that imaginative expression of human energy which, through technical concretion of feeling and perception, tends to reconcile the individual with the universal, by exciting in him impersonal emotion. And the greatest art is that which excites the greatest impersonal emotion in a hypothetical perfect human being."

"What is this universe—that never had beginning and will never have an end—but a myriad striving to perfect pictures never the same, so blending and fading one into another that all form one great perfect picture. And what are we—ripples on the tides of a birthless, deathless, equipoised Creative Purpose—but little works of art!"

"Life" 34 Days After Death.

Some years ago Dr. Alexis Carrel, an English scientist, showed that the various organs and tissues taken from a living organism can be maintained in a live state for a more or less prolonged time by placing them in a suitable medium at the right temperature, and that such tissues may even grow for several days. His results have been contradicted by other authors, but more recently Dr. Carrel has achieved even more striking results. By taking the preparations out of their nutritive medium at the right time and transferring them to another medium consisting of three parts of the normal plasma of the animal in question and two parts of water, and repeating the operation at proper intervals up to as many as nine times, he finds that the connective tissue shows great activity, even as long as thirty-four days after its removal from the body.

New Musical Instrument.

A musical instrument new to English audiences was heard at Queen's Hall, London, recently, when the London Symphony Orchestra presented a Russian program. The timpalto—which was used in one of Ivanoff's "Caucasian Sketches"—consists of two earthenware jars of different sizes, bound together by thongs. Over their mouths is stretched a skin which is beaten with light wooden drumsticks, producing a sound like a child's rattle and a drum combined.

Deafness Cannot be Cured.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.
